Ashley Action!

Mass Testing Before the lockdown was announced we were developing plans to test students in school. Whilst we continue to work on these plans, the focus will be on the testing of staff and students who are attending school regularly over the coming months. As always, we will ensure you are kept informed should our plans need to change as the situation develops. The tests are voluntary, free of charge and will require parental consent for students. We hope as many students as possible will take the test to minimise the risk of infections spreading in school and that you will support us in this effort for everyone's safety. In the meantime, I know our school community will continue to look after each other during this challenging time.

School Subject Support Email Addresses We have set up a series of subject support email addresses to help students or parents if you need specific subject help. Subject staff can be contacted on the email addresses listed as follows -

Accessing E books Over the next few days, you will receive a text with your child's personal log in details for Halton Libraries. Once you have received this information you can login to your library account on the Halton Libraries Koha website: <http://library.haltonbc.info/> Here you can do several things including searching the online book catalogue, accessing online resources, amending your account details, and renewing or reserving a book.

Well done to the following students who have been in the Green Zone for the last 7 days on DoodleMaths:
